Dear Secretary Lee,

On behalf of the Florida Supervisors of Elections, I want to thank you for the quick and direct action you took in response to last night's problems with the state's online voter registration system.

As you know, we must plan for contingencies in everything we do because we know that nothing is foolproof. People make errors. Technology goes down. That's why the manner in which we address these instances is critically important.

Your action is about more than just providing access to voter registration. It's about instilling confidence among our community, and the nation, that what we say can be trusted and that the resources we promise them can be counted on.

Thank you again,

Craig Latimer
President, Florida Supervisors of Elections

cc: Governor Ron DeSantis
